

Scott Avetta

Publications

- Scott Avetta is the sole photographer in books including Missouri Impressions, St. Louis Impressions and Illinois Impressions. He is a co-photographer in books including The Ozarks and Missouri Simply Beautiful. He is a contributing photographer in books including St. Louis - For the Record, St. Louis Yesterday & Today, Last Stand of the Tallgrass Prairie, Lewis and Clark's Journey Across Missouri and America's National Parks.
- Scott is a contributing photographer in Landscape Architecture and Missouri Life Magazine. National Audubon Society and other organizations have used his photographs for advertising, calendars, postcards, websites and newsletters.

Instruction

- Scott teaches photography on a regular basis at the Missouri Botanical Garden. He has been involved in photographic instruction with Kodak-sponsored workshops, the Missouri Department of Conservation, Public Lands Day and St. Louis Community College.
- Scott has twelve years of experience teaching workshops including classroom and fieldwork. In addition, he provides private instruction.

Displays

- Scott's images are on permanent display at the National Great Rivers Museum in Alton, Illinois. His fine art prints can also be seen around St. Louis in locations from BJC Healthcare to Washington University.

Scott is President, Board of Directors' member, and Program Chairman of the Missouri Nature and Environmental Photographers.

To see Scott Avetta's work, go to: <http://www.scottavetta.com/>