

Tammi Elbert is an award winning photographer with 40+ years of experience, specializing in equine, wildlife and nature photography. Her photography career began in 1982 as a photojournalist with the Missourian newspaper in Washington, MO. Today, Tammi still works as a freelance photographer and runs her own custom jigsaw puzzle printing business. Tammi's photographs are featured in several local galleries and have appeared in numerous publications, including Country Magazine, Missosuri Life, as well as featured on several news channels.

When Tammi's not out photographing horses or other wildlife she can be found out riding her horses and enjoying the outdoors. Tammi grew up with horses and in 1990 she began barrel racing and is still active in barrel racing and rodeo. Tammi grew up and still lives near Washington, MO.